Echoing our gratitude

Hallelujah

Standing up for justice, mercy and love

The Importance of Leadership: Setting the Tone

- Guarding against getting wrapped up in a concern for institutional survival
- Seeking to move people toward missional integrity and purpose
- Encouraging gratitude

The Importance of Leadership:
Setting the Tone

- Painting the picture of who we are created to be—created in God's image, we are to reflect love, grace, kindness, compassion, and generosity
- Developing a culture of faithful generosity in support of the mission to which we are called: to be and to share the Good News—from our doorsteps to the ends of the earth

The Importance of Leadership:
Setting the Tone

- Being willing to lead by example—at times, sharing your own journey, your own growth, your own commitment
- Sharing the stories of lives touched, of how a difference was made
- Speaking appreciation for efforts in the community and beyond—embracing all charitable endeavors as part of the church's missional reach

The Importance of Leadership:
Setting the Tone

- Reminding people that much can be done when we focus on our shared mission by committing to Christ and one another
- Getting out of the way/making room for others to lead

The Great Hallelujah

The great invitation and the great opportunity to engage in a timeless mission of faithful generosity and sharing our Hallelujahs!
